HUNTING and FISHING

By DICK MOORE
Waterfowl hunting in the sportsmen, if you still have Mile-Hi State is due for drastic improvement very shortly if weather men, Ducks Unlimited and Game, Fish and Parks Department observers are correct in their predictions.

Ducks Unlimited reports that snowfall on the prairies has triggered the first obvious migration of the year, moving the birds into southern areas of the prairie provinces.

Cold and snow blustering in from the north over last weekend evidently sent the birds winging south. Colorado Game, Fish and Parks Department observers spotted half-a-dozen large goose flocks winging towards Two Buttes Reservoir last week.

Predictions are that ducks aren't far behind and that waterfowl hunting for both ducks and geese is due for improvement very shortly.

Snakes can swallow their victim whole since the upper and lower jaw can "unhook" to encompass large objects.

The skunk uses his potent scent sparingly. He produces it at the rate of only about one-third liquid once per week.

The flea can lift 100 times its own weight. If a man could do this, he would be capable of lifting a ten-ton truck.

Wife Brings Jailed Man His Dinner

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP)

— Reginald F. Carpenter Jr., 25, a maintenance man who surrendered to police and admitted a $2,475 bank robbery had one thing to be thankful for — the Thanksgiving Day dinner he ate in jail was prepared by his wife. Carpenter told police he robbed the Somerset Savings Bank Wednesday because bills Bank Wednesday because bills were piling up and his car was about to be repossessed. But, he said, when he told his wife, Theresa, 23, that night, she urged him to telephone a friend who is a Boston detective. Carpenter did and the officer notified local police.

After he was jailed Carpenter asked if he could go home for Thanksgiving dinner. The answer was no, but police brought him his home-cooked turkey dinner and let his wife visit him. Carpenter faces arraignment today in District Court.

Medal of Honor Slated in Viet Nam Fighting

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government may soon award the first Medal of Honor of the war in South Viet Nam.

Secretary of the Army Stephen Ailes reportedly has approved a recommendation that the nation's highest decoration for valor be conferred on Capt. Hugh C. Donlon, a Special Forces officer from Saugerties, N.Y.

Donlon, 30, won the recommendation from Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the top U.S. commander in South Viet Nam, as a result of Donlon's conduct in a Communist guerrilla night attack on his camp last July 6.

Although wounded, Donlon stayed in the fight and refused first aid. An official account said he stopped for treatment only when he was warned he might die from lack of blood.

Meanwhile, reinforcements had arrived after two U.S. Special Forces soldiers were slain and seven of ten other American advisors had been wounded. Known Communist losses in the night assault on the camp at Nam Dong totaled 55 dead.

The Army, Air Force, Navy and Marines have handed out thousands of lower ranking decorations in South Viet Nam over the past three years. A report on the total as of Oct.

1 showed that among these have been three Distinguished Service Crosses, a Navy Cross and six Air Force Crosses, 46 Silver Stars, 1,396 Bronze Stars, and 1,071 Purple Hearts which were given for wounds.

The most freely distributed U.S. decoration in South Viet Nam is the Air Medal — a total of 24,305 given out as of Oct. 1. These figures include clusters in lieu of repeat Air Medals.

Donlon recently returned from South Viet Nam to Fort Bragg, N.C., the Army's Special Warfare Center.

He began his military career as an Air Force enlisted man in December 1953, served a hitch as an Army enlisted man and was commissioned in the Army in June 1959.

His nearest relative is his mother, Marion H. Donlon of Saugerties.

Tennessee University's football team, long noted as an exponent of the single wing style of offense, has switched to the T formation this season under new coach Doug Dickey.

U.S., Europeans To Talk About Economy, Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of State George W. Ball flies to Paris tonight for talks there and in London with European leaders and U.S. officials on economic and military problems confronting the Atlantic allies.

Key topics for Ball's conferences are expected to be the financial policies of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and the U.S. plan for a multilateral nuclear force, jointly owned and manned by the various NATO countries.

The undersecretary's trip comes in the wake of a severe British financial crisis revolving about Wilson's attempts to bolster the pound sterling and improve his nation's international payments standing.

And it comes less than one week after Wilson sharply criticized the proposed joint nuclear weapons force in a speech to the House of Commons on Monday.

Despite Wilson's stand, and the continuing opposition to the MLF project by French President Charles de Gaulle, the United States and West Germany — its two chief backers — agreed Thursday that the NATO nuclear fleet can be established.

In a joint communiqué following talks, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder expressed hope that agreement on the multilateral force "will be reached soon and that as many member nations of the alliance as possible would participate."

Rusk and Schroeder were reported to feel that Wilson's speech may have been delivered partially to placate the left wing of his Labor party and partly to establish a bargaining position when he comes here Dec. 7 for talks with U.S. officials including President Johnson.

But a new blow to the MLF plan came from Brussels where parliamentary sources reported today that Belgium had decided to take no part in the nuclear force.

Ball expects to be in London on Sunday and Monday and will meet with British Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker and probably with Wilson.

Before heading for London, Ball confers in Paris Saturday primarily with U.S. officials and representatives at NATO headquarters to assess the impact of the British government's policies and the extent of discussions centering around De Gaulle.

Following his conferences in London Ball will return to Paris for an allied economic conference and discussions with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Ship Collision Survivors Get Dinner in U.S.

By JULES LOH

LAKEHURST, N.J. (AP) — The Naval Air Station here was alive with excitement but also grim.

In the mess hall, sailors were talking about the survivors brought in during the morning from the collision of a Norwegian tanker and the Israeli passengers liner, the Shalom, off the New Jersey Coast Thursday.

Then the door opened and nine of the Norwegian survivors entered. The room immediately grew silent.

All eyes were on the nine as they trooped down the chow line, tin trays in their hands, for a Thanksgiving Day dinner.

In the lead was the master of the tanker, Kristian Bendersen, a stocky man of 54 with thinning blond hair, gray around the temples. He wore a black and white checkered flannel shirt and khaki trousers with a flashlight jammed into his hip pocket.

The others, in line behind him, were clad in sweaters, dungarees, khaki pants.

For the most part the men did not smile. They talked little. A Navy man led them to a private section of the mess hall where they sat at three tables and, still in silence, ate from their trays piled high with turkey, ham, green peas, mashed potatoes, candied yams, pie and coffee.

Less than 100 yards away, six of their comrades were in hospital beds, too badly hurt or shaken up to go to the dining hall.

Four of them were in a ward together. They too were silent, not wishing to talk or even to reflect on their ordeal.

The men were dirty, oil from their hair staining the clean white pillowcases.

One of them, Sverre Tvrnberg, told in halting English and with the aid of a diagram in a newsman's notebook of his night of horror in the Atlantic.

Awakened by the grinding crash, he leaped into a life boat with nine other men.

The life boat quickly became filled with water. One of the nine died.

Tvrnberg and four others were plucked from the life boat by a helicopter piloted by Lt. George Gilpin.

Gilpin and other helicopter pilots and crew members were across the base at the hangar, talking with newsmen and among themselves about the saga.

Clad in a bright orange flying suit with a knife strapped to his belt and a yellow Mae West life-jacket around his shoulders, Gilpin told of spotting the wreckage of the tanker, the drifting life boat, the debris-flecked oil slick, as dawn broke.

At the main gate of the air station, two Marines were discussing the rescue mission.

"It's a helluva way for those fellows to spend Thanksgiving," one Marine said. Replied the other, "for the ones who made it here, I'd say it was a helluva good way."

By RICHARD F. WHALEN
NEW YORK (AP) — A rending crash split the tanker. Aadar Olsen, who had been asleep in his bunk, suddenly found himself swimming for life in the cold Atlantic.

A jolting shudder shook the liner Shalom. It knocked passengers to the dance floor.

"I heard a grinding sound."

said Samuel Gerson of Wynnefield, Pa. "I thought we might have hit a big whale or something. I never thought it would be another ship."

"I was sleeping," said Shelley Mangell of Philadelphia. "I heard the jolt. I jumped up and looked out the porthole. I saw the sinking ship. Water was all over it. It looked like a submarine. I looked but I couldn't see anyone around, either in the ship or in the water. Then, I went back to bed."

"I was dancing with my wife, Barbara," said Stephen Tannbaum, a New York City pharmacist. "We were knocked to the floor. We got up and a crewman told us not to worry."

He said Shalom passengers in party dress or nightclothes began thronging to the outside decks. They were not aware that in the dark waters of the Atlantic Ocean, more than a score of Norwegian seamen were battling for their lives. Their ship, the Stolt Dagali, had been sliced in two by the prow of the Shalom in early morning darkness and dense fog Thursday.

Olsen, 19, said he suddenly found himself in the water in his underwear. "before I was picked up by a rowboat and then rescued by a helicopter."

Sverre Tvrnberg said he had been sleeping in the aft section of the tanker, which later sank. He said he was awakened by the crash, the shouts of other seamen and the clanging of the ship's emergency bell.

He leaped into a lifeboat with nine other men and was lowered into the sea. The lifeboat filled with water. Helicopters lifted them to safety, but one of the nine died.

On the Shalom, some passengers slept, some went back to their dancing and some stood on deck.

The ship, after lowering lifeboats, left the crash scene off the New Jersey Coast to return to New York City. A 40-foot gash in her bow made navigation difficult.

Roger Elkrief, a Shalom deck steward, said: "All passengers and crew were alerted and they began to show up on the decks, but there was no panic at all."

"The bars were opened and music began to play and many people danced until 4 o'clock in the morning (nearly two hours after the collision.)

"We tried not to be scared," said Jean Meth of Great Neck, N.Y. "But we were very frightened. We thought we'd have to get into a lifeboat and at that time of night, you can imagine!"

She said the band started playing and "some of the guests got up in their nightclothes and started dancing."

Murray Kaufman, 56, of Palisades, N.J., said that when the band started playing again,

"the bar opened up and served free drinks after the first round."

II Tempo also quoted Taylor as saying:

"The war in South Viet Nam is very difficult because of the open boundaries to the North, and new military and political complications. But in every war the resolving element is the warrior's desire to fight until victory is achieved."

"The Communist Viet Cong will realize the impossibility of pursuing the war and will be forced to surrender."

President Nears End Of Ranch Vacation

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, nearing the end of an extended holiday stay at his ranch home, had no announced appointments today.

Johnson and wife Lady Bird spent Thanksgiving in seclusion, so far as newsmen were able to determine.

Malcolm Kilduff, acting White House press secretary, furnished little information about the First Family's holiday activities.

Kilduff said the President worked during the morning and kept in touch with the Congo situation.

The President spent the afternoon quietly with Mrs. Johnson, he added.

At some point during the evening, it was understood, the Johnsons were joined by their two daughters, Lynda, 20, and Luci Baines, 17, for the traditional turkey dinner.

The daughters flew to Texas from Washington Thursday and,

Pinball machines made their first large-scale appearance in Chicago in 1930 when a game called Whooper provided the player 10 balls for a nickel.

U.S. Chiefs Debate Viet Nam War Expansion Plan

Taylor, who returned to Washington Thursday, is known to believe that the time for new civilian decisions is at hand. Furthermore he sees some advantages in authorizing and promptly undertaking air strikes either against Communist supply lines from North Viet Nam to South Viet Nam through the neighboring kingdom of Laos or against Communist concentration points for men and supplies in the north.

Taylor recently declared that the outcome of the conflict is now "very much in doubt."

But he said he thought attacks on targets in Red-held territory would probably make the Chinese and North Vietnamese situation worse.

Communist leadership realize that the conquest it seeks in the south will become too expensive because of impending damage in the north.

The ambassador is reported to believe that such attacks might thus compel the Hanoi regime to reconsider its policies and enter into negotiations on terms more favorable to South Viet Nam than are now considered possible.

Another benefit Taylor is believed to see in strikes to the north is that they might have a heartening effect upon military and anti-Communist elements in the south.

Government instability has been for months one of the most

U.S. Ambassador Protests Mob Attack in Cairo

Damaged to the library, considered one of the two best foreign language libraries in Cairo, was estimated at $250,000.

Cairo newspapers said all the demonstrators were Congolese. Cairo is a haven for leftist opponents of the central Congolese government.

The Cairo incident was the most serious demonstration against the United States in a wave of hostile sentiment following the Congo airborne operation in which U.S. aircraft were used to carry the Belgian paratroopers.

Battle called the mob attack a "dastardly deed" that was "irresponsible and unjustified."

There was no official comment from the Egyptian government. Police arrested about 40 demonstrators but it was not known today if they were still detained.

At the Marine barracks, the demonstrators set bedding and furniture afire and hurled gasoline torches and flower pots.

"They came swarming in from everywhere," said the only Marine in the building. "I tried to block the door and they pried in the windows."

Other anti-U.S. demonstrations protesting Western presence in the Congo were staged in such widely scattered cities as Prague, Sofia and Nairobi, Kenya.

Four government troops were killed, the ministry said.

An hour later, government units operating north of Nong Ngu came under fire from Cambodia but suffered no casualties, the ministry said.

In Phnom Penh, the Cambodian government announced it would begin talks with the United States Dec. 7 in New Delhi. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state, said the U.S. government specified that it would not examine problems concerning the South Vietnamese government.

This makes no difference, Sihanouk said, because "the question of Cambodian-Vietnamese frontiers will be the object of negotiations in Peking soon between Cambodia and North Viet Nam and the South Vietnamese National Front for Liberation, the political arm of the Communist Viet Cong.

The latter two groups, Sihanouk said, are "the authentic representatives of the Vietnamese people."

A maze of barbed wire was removed from around the palace of chief of state Phan Khac Sun. But troops were on the alert to crush any renewal of the demonstrations which were staged daily from Sunday through Wednesday. Huong proclaimed martial law Wednesday night.

The key to Huong's position continued to be the support of the military. It is still smarting over the collapse of military rule in August, when tough action was not taken against rioting mobs until too late.

Huong in a broadcast said the Communist Viet Cong had played a role in the riots and that they were fomented by "groups of irresponsible people" who have either innocent or deliberately fallen in with Communist plans and incited the most unoccupied and innocent sectors of the population."

Huong said 86 members of the security forces and nearly all policemen were injured in Wednesday's melee. He did not specify casualties among the rioters but these were believed to be at least 30 or 40.

Communist terrorists continued to work in Saigon today. A grenade exploded in the yard of a U.S. aid mission's guest house. No one was hurt. The house is a block from the residence of Deputy U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson.

The Soviet Union meanwhile stepped in with a warning against any U.S. plans to carry the war to North Viet Nam.

In an "authorized" statement published by the Soviet news agency Tass, Moscow said it was ready to provide the Hanoi regime with "necessary assistance" in the event of U.S. armed attacks.

The Tass statement cited speculative Western reports that U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor's talks in Washington might bring a decision to extend the Viet Nam war into North Viet Nam.

"Those who hatch adventurous plans for Indochina must realize that the Soviet Union will not remain indifferent to the destiny of a fraternal Socialist country and is prepared to give it the necessary assistance," Tass said.

The Soviet promise of assistance gave no suggestion of what form its aid might take.

North Viet Nam accused U.S. and South Vietnamese warships of bombing the North Vietnamese island of Con Co. off the northern portion of the demilitarized zone, on Wednesday.

Hanoi's protest did not give the extent of damage caused by the alleged shelling nor did it identify the ships.

Communist guerrillas supported by mortar fire from Cambodia ambushed a government unit in Kien Phong Province Thursday but were driven back across the border after a 15-minute fight, the defense ministry announced.

Four government troops were killed, the ministry said.

An hour later, government units operating north of Nong Ngu came under fire from Cambodia but suffered no casualties, the ministry said.

In Phnom Penh, the Cambodian government announced it would begin talks with the United States Dec. 7 in New Delhi. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state, said the U.S. government specified that it would not examine problems concerning the South Vietnamese government.

This makes no difference, Sihanouk said, because "the question of Cambodian-Vietnamese frontiers will be the object of negotiations in Peking soon between Cambodia and North Viet Nam and the South Vietnamese National Front for Liberation, the political arm of the Communist Viet Cong.

The latter two groups, Sihanouk said, are "the authentic representatives of the Vietnamese people."

Buddha Statue Stolen From Front Porch

A Buddha statue valued at $35 was taken from the front porch of a local residence between 20 p.m. Wednesday and 8 a.m. Thursday, police reported.

Leonard D. Wissacher, 3811 Marilyn Road, told police the statue was on a black stand on the front porch of his home. That it was between one and a half and two feet high, and that it weighed approximately 40 pounds. He said the thief ignored the stand it was placed on.

Taylor praised the "courage and determination" of the new civilian leaders. Tran Van Huong, author of the "stationary" weather map, said the situation will get increasingly desperate unless the new regime can demonstrate it can command and enlist support from such politically powerful groups as students and Buddhists.

Against these benefits of a possible escalation, or step-up of the war, the President and his advisers must weigh the possibility that such moves may provoke responses from North Viet Nam's regular military forces and even from those of Communist China.

The Soviet Union injected its own warning into the Vietnamese situation Thursday but failed to stir up any concern or even much interest in government quarters here.

A statement by the Soviet news agency Tass declared that persons who "harbor adventurous plans" for Southeast Asia "should understand that the Soviet Union cannot remain indifferent to the fate of a fraternal Socialist country and is ready to render the necessary assistance."

Upon his arrival at Andrews Air Force Base, Taylor denied reports which had preceded him here from Saigon that he would present a plan to President Johnson for extending military operations to the north and would resign unless Johnson accepts the plan.

"So far as I'm concerned I've enlisted in this war for the duration," Taylor said, implying that whether he stays on is not his decision but the President's.

Johnson and Taylor are expected to meet Sunday or Monday after the President returns from his extended visit to his Texas ranch. Advance word was that Johnson would play an active role in the discussions preceding any policy decisions.

There were strong indications that McNamara remains the President's chief adviser on Viet Nam. This view stemmed from the disclosure that the State Department's two top men — Rusk and Undersecretary George W. Ball — will be out of Washington during at least part of the discussions on Viet Nam.

Ball leaves tonight for a visit to France and England to discuss economic and military problems confronting the Atlantic alliance, while Rusk leaves for New York Monday to confer with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and other ministers in advance of Tuesday's opening of the U.N. General Assembly.

Steamroller Blamed for Air Crash

A ROMA (UPI) — The chief pilot of a Trans World Airlines jetliner which exploded in flames at Rome's Fiumicino Airport told investigators Wednesday the tragedy would not have happened if a steamroller had not been parked so close to the runway, sources reported.

Forty-six persons died in the fire and explosion which swept through the plane after one of its wings clipped the steamroller in an aborted takeoff. The $5.5 million Boeing 707 was carrying 73 passengers and crew members.

Capt. Vernon Lowell of Old Westbury, N.Y., both his hands wrapped in bandages, was questioned by state Prosecutor Pietro Manca and Italian air officials for almost six hours.

Informed sources said Lowell told Manca he did everything possible to prevent the disaster.

Lowell said when he started the takeoff all four engines were working smoothly and all instruments were functioning properly.

He said that about halfway down the runway he noticed that engine No. 4 on the starboard wing was not working

DENVER (UPI) — The Colorado Public Utilities Commission took no action Wednesday on a request for a rehearing in the case involving Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad passenger train service between Denver and Grand Junction.

The request was filed by Herbert M. Boyle of Denver, attorney for those protesting discontinuance of service over the Royal Gorge route.

Boyle asked, on behalf of protestors, that the PUC reconsider its decision and order the D&RGW to operate the line between Denver and either Glenwood Springs or Grand Junction.

The PUC on Nov. 5 granted the railroad permission to abandon passenger service between Salida and Grand Junction. It ruled, however, that service must be continued between Denver and Salida.

The railroad sought to discontinue two passenger trains which operate daily between Denver and Grand Junction over the Royal Gorge route.

Army Calls Off Its Search for Missing Missile

CREED, Colo. (UPI) — The Army Thursday called off its search for a $1 million award Pershing missile missing for a week in the snow-clogged mountains of southwestern Colorado.

The Army said it gave up the search for the missile because of 11-foot snow drifts and rugged, timber-covered terrain. The announcement Thursday raised the possibility the 100-pound Pershing won't be found until the spring thaws.

Mineral County Sheriff Harry Larson said two helicopters criss-crossed the terrain around the small mining community before the search was halted.

The missile was fired last week by the army in El Paso, Tex. It was supposed to land on the White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico. Instead, it roared out of control for 300 miles and landed near Creede.

Officials thought they had pinpointed the impact site last week, but the suspicious spot apparently was caused by an avalanche triggered by the missile's sonic boom.

Larson said the country was so rugged the missile might not be found until spring. He said the trees were so thick at points that the missile could be missed even when flying at tree-top level.

Pep Pill Possession May Become Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration plans to ask for legislation making the possession of pep pills illegal. The pills are becoming a big money item in organized crime because of lack of federal control, says George P. Larrick, commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration.

Arrests for possession of the pills can only be made now if the federal agents can prove the pills moved across state boundaries.

Larrick said bigtime racketeers are being attracted to the pep pill trade by the lure of large profits. The pills can be bought for $1 a thousand and peddled for 5 to 10 cents a pill, he said.

Soldier in Fair Condition After Shooting

Frontier Shows 16 Per Cent Air Cargo Rise

A Ft. Carson soldier was listed in fair condition this morning at Ft. Carson hospital after being shot twice with what police described as "a small caliber" weapon. According to police, the shooting occurred at approximately midnight Thursday.

Donald Baxter, Ft. Carson, was admitted to Ft. Carson hospital early this morning with two gunshot wounds in the back, one on his lower right side and the other just under his shoulder blade, according to police.

Lt. Bert Johnson reported that he had received a call from Sgt. Robert L. Taylor, Ft. Carson, at 1:45 a.m. Thursday. Sgt. Taylor said Baxter had been admitted to the base hospital with gunshot wounds, and that according to the information he said the shooting had occurred in the vicinity of the Elk's Nest at Cimarron Street and Wah-satch Street.

Sgt. Taylor said that Pfc. Guy T. Robins, Ft. Carson, and Ann Thomas, 314 E. Cimarron St., had brought Baxter to the hospital. They told Sgt. Taylor they saw Baxter staggering in the street in the 300 block of E. Cimarron St., and that Baxter said he had "left the Elk's Nest" club, and some unknown party had shot him. According to police, Sgt. Taylor "wouldn't or couldn't" give much information at the time.

In the process of checking out the shooting, officers Garry Gilmore and Bill Burns went to 314 E. Cimarron to contact Ann Thomas. They entered Apartment 2 in the building at that time with the aid of a relative of Miss Thomas, and a check of the apartment revealed blood stains on the kitchen floor and also near the sink on the kitchen cupboard. They couldn't find any weapon on the premises, and no further check was made, according to the report.

Santa Claus Arrives on U.S. Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — Santa Claus officially arrived in the nation's assorted towns yesterday, courtesy of CBS, and NBC's reports of various Thanksgiving Day parades.

For the next 20 days, television viewers may just as well reconcile themselves to commercials which are chock full of holly, evergreens, carolers in blizzards of cornflake snow merrily decking the halls with boughs and of proud daddies in cotton batting beards admiring electric razors, cameras and after-shave lotion.

In truth, a number of sponsors have jumped the gun on Christmas commercials. The haunting sound of "jingle bells" was heard this year even before the Thanksgiving turkey was ordered. But most obeyed the unwritten rule and refrained from breaking out the yuletide messages until we had gotten through yesterday's celebration.

On Thanksgiving Day itself, most of the regularly scheduled programs were well prepared and the jolly hosts of the pre-taped game and panel shows greeted us with hearty good wishes, even though the members of the studio panel looked a bit bemused.

Highlights of the day were, as usual, the parades. NBC, as usual, focused its color cameras on the lavish New York celebration which was loaded with TV personalities, lots of bands and enormous gas-filled figures.

CBS popped around to show parades in New York, Philadelphia, Detroit and elsewhere, and although the sights weren't as interesting for color set owners, it was another delightful show for youngsters.

An easy-going musical program consisting of some all-time favorite songs was NBC's holiday special. It was timed for that early evening hour when the turkey has been eaten in most homes, when conversation has thinned out and when most people are ready for a relaxing hour.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said "the basic emphasis will be on more effective advance and preventive work by the service in connection with presidential travel, as well as the use of more sophisticated equipment."

The Secret Service is under the Treasury Department.

In announcing the plan today, Dillon said the hiring of 75 additional persons would cost approximately $650,000.

Do-It-Yourself Kit Available For Forecasting Season

By SAM CAMPBELL

Nothing is easier than to predict the future.

To show that this is so, I shall knock off a few forecasts right here before your very eyes. Accuracy is guaranteed at 100 per cent.

To wit: Hurricane Rocks Florida Keys; Typhoon Ravages Philippines; Earthquake Jars Southern California. These events surely will come to pass. You will read them as headlines in your daily paper in the days and years ahead.

You will be inclined to suppose that forecasts like those mentioned above do not mean much because they do not nail down the precise time that the dread event will happen. They offer you no guide to govern your personal behavior by.

They don't tell you WHEN to sell Florida and buy California, or vice versa.

Well, in a sense, you are absolutely right. But on the other hand precision as to time is not always an important factor. In some instances it is sufficient to know that a catastrophe is impending at some time in the future in order to take steps to avert involvement or to lessen the damage.

In the area of business forecasts, we find many endeavors to tie future events to an exact time interval. The University of Michigan Econometric Forecast, for instance, predicts a 4 per cent increase in the Gross National Product for 1965, an increase that would bring the total to $652 billion.

Arthur C. Babson, vice president of the reputable Babson's Reports of Wellesley, Mass., agrees with that estimate, but goes further to apply it to the Los Angeles area. He believes the average business activity in this area, as measured by bank debits, should rise about 5 or 6 per cent above the current year.

This reporter passes this information along for what you can make of it. Personally, however, I forbear to join in the 1965 predicting game. For I am less concerned with the problematics and plausibilities of the calendar year ahead than I am with the absolute certainties to be encountered at some reckoning point in the future.

So instead of making a prediction of my own, I shall offer you a do-it-yourself prophecy kit by which you will be able to calculate your personal progress and prosperity.

This kit contains only one instrument — an incentive meter. You look into the incentive meter and you see there, on one side of a calibrated scale, all the things that encourage you to produce — your opportunity to earn, to own, to save and to invest. On the other side of the scale you see all the things that discourage you from producing — red tape, statutory restrictions, Labor Union interference, frauds, robberies, taxes.

This kit is designed to help you have a reasonable expectation of increasing your own well-being. The more incentive you have in comparison with disincentives, the greater justification you have for a rising expectation. But when the shadow of discouragement falls long on the scale, then it is prudent to surmise that your hopes must be reduced accordingly.

Maximum incentive comes when you are able to keep 100 per cent of all that you produce. All progress may be regarded as a fraction of that equation.

Plant Site Recommended For Re-Zoning

It was announced today the Boulder County Planning Commission has recommended re-zoning the proposed site area of the Rocky Mountain Cement Co. near Lyons.

The announcement stated: After study and a public hearing the Boulder County Planning Commission adopted a resolution recommending the re-zoning of approximately 1,140 acres southeast of Lyons, Colo., for the proposed multi-million dollar cement operation of Co., a subsidiary of the Martin Marietta Corp.

The company, described as one which will exert a major impact on the state's economy, will be highly automated and will not produce smoke, dust or noise in the Boulder-Lyons area.

Future plans of the company include the opening of a sales office in Colorado Springs that will serve both the Pikes Peak Region and Pueblo.

Government is Not Responsive

The illusion persists that governments are responsive to the popular will.

Doubtless the reason for the tenacity of this belief is linked up with the voting process.

If the people are in a position to toss out the elected officials every two to four years, it Yet, this what people generally had in mind for generals same elected officials would be when they were hired by the cognizant of this fact and give military authority? It is unlikely to the pleas of concern and economy expressed in so many areas today.

In actual fact, this is to oversimplify a weighty problem.

First of all, we should learn that the elected officials do not comprise the government.

The government is a massive and general bureaucracy, living behind the facade of elected officials of the economic front, and operating exclusively b e h i n d the scenes and tear its hair. The protective coloration of a facade may be altered from time to time. But behind this front, the bureaucracy grinds Men in office are certainly no away, night and day, creating better, morally or in any other more laws, interpreting these way, than men out of office. Indeed, there have been learned writings to suggest that the contrary may be true. But, like any other man, an officeholder is ambitious. He is equipped with all the frailties and vices we call government, relates to the fact government operates in an area protected from market place demands. Laws of supply and demand, positively dominant in a free market, have little effect within a bureaucratic structure.

Take this example: An army general, challenged by the General Accounting Office, declared that there was "absolutely nothing elaborate" about his base office headquarters, in spite of the fact that he had spent some $94,400 in appointments for the place. It was discovered, for instance, that the building had an electric dumb waiter car to handle the mail, a walnut-paneled staircase, recessed lighting and silk wallpaper in the bathroom.

The general defended the latter acquisition by claiming that the silk wallpaper was cheaper than the tile originally suggested and that it was equally waterproof. The point is that the general did not have to pay for these appointments, or any appointments, out of his own pay. The law of supply and demand did not enter into his plans. He could ignore the pressing requirements of adequate financing which surely would have overwhelmed him had he been placed as the rest of us are placed, and forced to cover the costs himself.

Wrong Equation

Most people equate "government" with "law and order." Thus, comments calling for a reduction of "government" cause them to suppose that a reduction in "law and order" is being recommended. In actual fact, "government" has little to do with "order" and the multitudinous laws enacted, help to create a climate of instability and disorder.

There Is a Better Way

In the wake of the late lamented election, members of the little-bit-of-socialism school of thought are wailing loudly in public places.

Between sobs, the message comes through.

If only a little-bit-of-socialism had been a little-bit-MORE-of-socialism, they claim, the Grand Old Party might have gone down to defeat by a lesser margin.

Richard Nixon, the champion me-tooer of this century, advises the Republican Party to stick back to the middle of the road from a course that he called "too far right."

Well, for all we care, the Republicans and the Democrats may fight it out among themselves for possession of "the road to socialism." The terms "right" and "left" — is a political game — never have signified much more than the two wings of the socialist movement, of which side of the road you travel on, you always wind up at the same point, in the Land of Confusion.

What we would prefer, and to which we would prefer, is that there

EDWARD A. ROBIT

First, what in the world is UNCTAD? Well, it is short for the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development convened in Geneva, Switzerland, in the Spring of 1964—the largest trade conference in history, with some 2,000 delegates from 121 countries in attendance.

Even before the conference began, it had already developed some strange alliances between the "have nations" and the "have not nations" of the world. The conference also developed ominous racial undertones in that the so-called "have nations" happen to be populated with white people, while the "have not nations" are populated by people who are black, yellow, and brown.

Soon after the conference began, from the myriads of currents and crosscurrents, there began to emerge a philosophy about the relationship between rich and poor nations. This philosophy is the old share-the-wealth attitude which we have come to recognize when applied within a national economy to individuals. Tax the rich and give the money to the poor! Redistribute the wealth! Now, instead of referring to individuals, the would-be wealth sharers refer to rich and poor nations.

The rich nations somehow are guilty of something because their inhabitants have produced more, and the inhabitants of the poor nations, for some reason not yet clear, have a right to ask for and receive some of the wealth of the rich

TRENDS TOWARD SOCIALISM

Three items in the newspaper before me show the hastening trend toward socialism in our country, and cause great uneasiness in the minds of those of us who believe in freedom and self-government.

First we note the appropriation of $375 million to aid railroads in the operation of commuter services to and from our larger cities. If government can subsidize the railroads it can subsidize any business. If it can control transportation, it can control all business activity. The government might just as well finance vacations for the people as to finance the cost of their traveling to and from their jobs. This is another long step toward a government-controlled and directed economy.

Second, the newspaper discloses that the government has been financing pilot projects in 40 counties and three large cities in 22 states for the food stamp program designed to improve the diets of needy people.

Free food for some leads to a continuous expansion of the number receiving that form of help. Free food is a great attraction and increasing numbers of people will learn to become dependent upon it. The poor should be helped voluntarily where the need is genuine, but wholesale dependency of government aid should not be encouraged. The great days of Rome were when the people supported the government. The end of that great country came after the government, under political pressure—as in our country, began distributing free food. Surely, there is a better way to help needy people than to undermine and destroy our economic and political system.

The third item that causes concern is an announcement oft repeated that $100 a month will be paid to any family willing to care for an orphan or an abandoned child. In addition, clothing and medical allowances are also provided.

No one questions the duty of society to provide for homeless children, but when their number is increasing so rapidly it is also the duty of society to retard the process insic as possible.

Friendly men and women who back the size of their own families are nevertheless compelled to pay the cost of providing for the children of irresponsible parents. We have made it so easy for the latter that they see little reason to limit procreative activity. Socialism is the principal cause of the population explosion. The direct result is greatly to limit the offspring of the older segment of our people, while at the same time accelerating the birthrate among the less responsible. How long can society survive such a two-pronged attack?

The first point involves a dubious system of price and quota agreements, intended to help those poorer nations largely dependent on a single crop. Similar agreements, like those for coffee and sugar, have existed for some time. Trade in excess of the quotas presumably would be at prices arrived at in a freely adjustable market. Though such agreements might temporarily help to stabilize one-crop economies, they would also encourage diversification and so would tend to perpetuate an unstable condition, which in turn would call for continued regulation.

The second point involves a complicated form of taxation whereby rich countries which import products from poor coun-ntries. Because of the racial alignment of the rich and poor nations, the white nations of the world owe something to the colored nations of the world. Since compulsory redistribution of wealth must carry with it a compelling force or threat of such a force, that too has been strongly hinted at in the course of the conference.

The Secretary-General of UNCTAD is an Argentinean economist-reformer, Raul Prebisch, who is also the head of ECLA (Economic Commission for Latin America). Schooled in the Keynesian dogma, he sees no hope whatever for free enterprise economic systems, and is a firm advocate of "planned" and "directed" economies. According to Secretary-General Prebisch, the U.N. has the responsibility to take "political action in the field of trade and development." Prebisch ominously and explicitly said, "Unless the developed countries change their trade policies so that the world's financial resources become more equitably distributed, the developing countries will resort to drastic measures. No country could afford the ensuing holocaust."

Barbara Ward, British political economist, referring to the rich white nations and the poor colored nations, says it is up to the rich nations to redistribute their wealth voluntarily. She believes that if they fail to do this, then Marx will have been proven right, that a class struggle (presumably also a race war) will explode among nations, and that "we shall deservedly not long survive" (presumably because the rich nations will lose).

It need not be pointed out that to redistribute your wealth "voluntarily" because otherwise there will be violence used against you is just what a victim does when he "voluntarily" gives his money to a hold-up man at gun point.

In tune with most of the poor nations at the conference, Brazil's delegate Rodrigues warned, "The bells are tolling for the rich North, and you don't have to listen too closely to hear them."

Idle Threats

Though boldly spoken, there is little to fear behind these threats. If the poor nations cannot support a thriving peace-time economy, they certainly cannot sustain a far more stringent war-time economy. There is no real danger forthcoming from this quarter.

There is a danger, however, that the United States and other nations with relatively free economies will make concessions to the underdeveloped countries in the form of trade agreements which will invariably become involved with the regulation of prices and quotas. Once price and quota controls are firmly established, they cannot be enforced unless there are also controls over wages, rents, profits, and so on to a fully regimented economy.

The fourth point proposed by the poor nations is to make UNCTAD a permanent world trade agency with cartel-making functions. International cartels were once looked upon in the same light as domestic monopolies. They restricted free trade. They diminished or abolished free competition. Monopolies, when located entirely within a country, continue to be viewed in this same undesirable light. However, international cartels, which are the same things as monopolies, are increasingly welcomed as a way of doing international business.

The American advocates of peaceful co-existence contemplate an idealistic world in which the communist movement has renounced its aggressive designs. In this utopia the Soviet Union is to be welcomed as a partner in peace which can be trusted to seek peaceful solutions to our mutual problems and never to stir up trouble in the rest of the world.

So much for the myth. Here is what Pravda, the official Communist party organ, said on Sept. 18: "Peaceful coexistence is only one weapon in the battle against imperialism and the crimes of the United States, the world imperialist gendarmerie. You can't change imperialism by preaching about peace.

Material assistance is being given to peoples fighting wars of national liberation in Africa, Asia, and Latin America. Concrete aid to patriots there will continue to be increased."

"Marxist-Leninists," the newspaper said earlier, "have never been social pacifists. Our party holds that revolutionary civil wars are legal and progressive."

Party Life, the journal of the party central committee, asserts that "peaceful co-existence creates the most favorable conditions for expanding through armed uprisings, the liberation movement in colonial and dependent countries." It quotes Mr. Khrushchev as saying that "There can be no question of negotiation or agreement" in these "just wars until foreign oppressors or their native puppets are driven out."

The theory advanced by Secretary-General Prebisch is that some 30 poor nations with a population of approximately two million people sell commodities at falling prices to some 30 rich nations with a population of one billion people, who in turn sell manufactures to the poor nations at rising prices. These divergent price trends result in a "trade gap" increasingly unfavorable to the poor nations.

Projected to 1970, according to Prebisch, this so-called trade gap will be twenty billion dollars. The proposed cure is a four-point program put forth by the poor countries.

Commodity Agreements

The first point involves a dubious system of price and quota agreements, intended to help those poorer nations largely dependent on a single crop. Similar agreements, like those for coffee and sugar, have existed for some time. Trade in excess of the quotas presumably would be at prices arrived at in a freely adjustable market.

Though such agreements might temporarily help to stabilize one-crop economies, they would also encourage diversification and so would tend to perpetuate an unstable condition, which in turn would call for continued regulation.

The second point involves a complicated form of taxation whereby rich countries which import products from poor coun-

THE AMERICAN WAY

There Can Be Only One Standard Of Morality

What Russia Means By Co-Existence

(Chicago Tribune)

In the last few weeks, official Communist party publications in Russia have given some definitions of peaceful co-existence which don't bear the slightest resemblance to what Sen. Fulbright and other Americans seem to think it means.

The American advocates of peaceful co-existence contemplate an idealistic world in which the communist movement has renounced its aggressive designs.

In this utopia the Soviet Union is to be welcomed as a partner in peace which can be trusted to seek peaceful solutions to our mutual problems and never to stir up trouble in the rest of the world.

Quite clearly, Russia isn't about to surrender world communism leadership to Red China. It regards any rebellion against any anti-communist regime, wherever it occurs or can be instigated, as a "just" war entitled to Soviet support and victory in a world of peaceful co-existence. If communism should triumph in the countries where the struggle is now in progress, the same logic would be extended to Turkey, India, Morocco, Brazil, or who knows what other countries. As the communist pincers close in on the free world, voices will no doubt continue to assure us that this is peaceful coexistence and that we should be thankful it isn't war, yet.

Peacful coexistence, communist style, is a trap which promises neither peace nor co-existence. Those who talk of it as if it meant the same thing here and in Russia are merely pushing us toward the pit.

Party Life, the journal of the party central committee, asserts that "peaceful co-existence creates the most favorable conditions for expanding through armed uprisings, the liberation movement in colonial and dependent countries." It quotes Mr. Khrushchev as saying that "There can be no question of negotiation or agreement" in these "just wars until foreign oppressors or their native puppets are driven out."

OPEN FRIDAY EVENING

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

To a woman who smoked and drank!

Thousands of men, though addicts themselves, have warned us:

"Don't waste my time introducing me to a woman who smokes or drinks!"

So wives of doctors who wish to attract, instead of repel, new patients should not violate the customs of the usual community!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

(Copyright by The Hopkins Syndicate, Inc.)

was the common retort of such adult dental patients.

"That means I don't even relish first-hand cigaret smoke, not to mention the stale second-hand cigaret halitosis of a smoking dentist.

So the conscientious doctor just starting into private practice may be struggling to attract his first 25 or 50 patients, yet his smoking or drinking wife may be alienating them faster than he can win them.

And the usual young wife doesn't even dream that she is costing her husband from $1,000 to $5,000 that first year!

Even though a man may smoke or drink himself, he usually dislikes having his children doctored by such victims of those nuisance habits.

For the D. D. S. and the M. D. often must perform very delicate surgery and the usual patient knows it takes a steady hand to prevent untoward surgical accidents.

Proposed it bad for her vision, the centenarian, she added:

"I never heard of a murder all the time I was in Michigan. When I went to college, we never had any student disturbances."

She didn't digress myself,"

Army Engineer Returns From Overseas Duty

An Army engineer international trouble-shooter, Maj. Chester J. Lenon, is back home with the 7th Engineer Battalion as executive officer at Ft. Carson.

He returned from Bogor, Indonesia, where he spent five months teaching operation and management of Army engineer heavy equipment. Early in 1964 he spent four months in Santiago, Chile, teaching logistics and placing the Chilean Army supply system on automatic data processing.

In 1963 he spent six months with the Indonesian Army on a related mission to his 1964 temporary duty there.

This charter member of the 7th Engineers and 5th Infantry Division (Mech.) has devoted most of his 15 Army years to engineer operations and maintenance work at unit or battalion level. He has been logistics and operations and training officer of the 7th Engineers since it was organized in 1962.

He was selected for the trouble-shooting assignments by the Army Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Va., where he has completed basic and advanced officer courses.

A graduate of Hampton, Va., Institute majoring in mathematics, Major Lenon received a direct commission in 1949 after six years of enlisted duty.

He went into combat in Korea in July, 1950, and was evacuated as a casualty within a month having earned the Distinguished Service Cross, the Bronze Star for Valor and the Purple Heart.

The major is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Lenon of Independence, Kan.

Base Officers May Sign Up For Viet Nam

Ent officers may now volunteer specifically for duty in South Viet Nam or Southeast Asia.

A change to AFM 35-11, just distributed, sets up procedures for officers to submit applications for such duty of their local personnel officers who must forward them to HQ USAF within three working days.

HQ USAF will determine if their qualifications meet the rigid standards set up. An officer found qualified will be notified and told whether his reassignment is probable within 10 months of the subsequent 11 to 24 month period.

Those volunteering for Southeast Asia may name either Cambodia, Burma, Thailand, Malaya, Laos or Indonesia as the country of their preferred duty choice.

Volunteers will not be considered as volunteering for any other overseas area. Neither will they be considered as being unavailable for other assignments as nonvolunteers.

Boys Take Items Valued at $600 in Burglary

Two boys, one 13 and the other 14, were picked up by the sheriff's office Thursday for the burglary of Woolworth's store in Southgate when approximately $600 in merchandise was stolen.

One Injured In Three-Car Crash Thursday

A three-car accident on U.S. 55-57 Thursday resulted in one injured person and $375 total damage, the State Patrol reported.

Robert Robinson, 48, of Henderson, Alfred Gossman, 31, of Denver, and Lloyd Minzmyer, 34, of Denver, were southbound on U.S. 55-57 at 9:30 a.m. Thursday. Robinson vehicle slowed to make a turn. The Gossman car was unable to avoid the slowed car and rammed into the rear end, knocking it into the path of the Minzmyer vehicle. All three cars ended up in the median ditch, according to patrolman Arnold C. Fenner.

A passenger in the Robinson car, Kelly Robinson, 6, of Henderson, suffered a cut over the left eye and was taken to Parker Hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Hinds Tells of Mental Health National Meeting

The events and findings of the National Association for Mental Health 16th Annual Meeting, held recently in San Francisco, were revealed by Mrs. Lorna Hinds, the executive director of the El Paso County Mental Health Association, who attended the meeting.

Mrs. Hinds offered a quote from the keynote address at the meeting, delivered by Dr. C. H. Hardin Branch, a former president of the American Psychiatric Association, who said that although at the grass roots level the public is prepared for the acceptance of the mentally ill, and in the "ivory towers" of the academic centers, research and training is coming along nicely, it is the "bare midriff" in between that is the great concern of mental health associations.

In this "bare midriff," Mrs. Hinds said, lie the areas of establishing functional local treatment centers for the mentally ill.

In other activities at the meeting, Mrs. Hinds saw several films which she felt would be very useful if shown locally. There was one, she said, that dealt with attracting young people to careers in mental health, that she felt would accomplish a great deal, since more and more qualified people are needed in the field as the methods of treatment become more advanced.

Mrs. Hinds was also impressed by a presentation of "fashion therapy," a program wherein several professional models and designers have gone into hospitals and worked with the female patients, trying to interest them in the great common denominator of women everywhere, sick or well... their appearance.

This group of fashion therapists, she said, would stage fashion shows, and give makeup and beauty care instruction to female patients, and the response, she said, "was phenomenal."

A great portion of the program was devoted to the problems of treating emotionally disturbed children.

Mrs. Hinds referred to literature distributed at the annual meeting which contained statistics that reveal that the majority of children afflicted with schizophrenia, the most common form of childhood mental illness, do not recover, or at best, make only marginal adjustments.

It was the resolution of the representatives of local mental health associations that they return to their communities to work for more adequate care for mentally ill children, including special public school classes for the emotionally disturbed.

The problem of after-care facilities in the community also came under intensive discussion, said Mrs. Hinds. A growing emphasis is being placed on after-care and rehabilitation as patient stays in hospitals grow shorter.

A complete closed-circuit facility is available for the Academy foreign language teacher. Two studios produce video taped information which can be transmitted over six channels to any combination of 80 classrooms in Fairchild Hall, the academic building.

The television materials can also be combined with audio tape for use in conventional language laboratories.

Use of the audio-visual adjuncts plus instruction by foreign officers assigned to the Academy faculty and summer field trips which permit cadets to accumulate first-hand knowledge of their "second language" gives the Academy a program which does a difficult job and does it well.

The General Henry H. Arnold Education Fund provides educational assistance to children of Air Force personnel.

This group provides a sustaining program of annual scholarship grants to selected preparatory schools in various parts of the nation. Each scholarship pays for the cost of room and board and tuition at the school.

To meet this need, three nonprofit agencies have established preparatory scholarship programs to qualify deserving youths for admission to the Academy.

The agencies are: The Gertrude Skelly Trust Fund, the General Henry H. Arnold Educational Fund.

The Gertrude Skelly Trust Fund was established by the wife of William G. Skelly, founder of the Skelly Oil Company. Mrs. Skelly was deeply interested in the educational opportunities of American youth as was Mr. Skelly during his life.

Use of the Skelly Trust Fund is limited to sons, adopted sons or step-sons of active, retired, or deceased career members of the armed forces in the U.S.

Applicants may make their own choice of a preparatory school, either on the high school or college level. Application for financial assistance must be made before June 1 for school years beginning in September.

Two trustees, Harold Stuart, president of KVOO Radio and Television, and former assistant secretary of the Air Force, Russell F. Hunt, executive vice-president of the First National Bank and Trust Co., both in Tulsa, administer the fund. Applications for scholarships

The group departed at 2 a.m. today from Colorado Springs by bus, and will leave Sheridan at 10 a.m. Sunday, to return here eight hours later.

The Hi-Y boys serving on the training team are: Allen Epperson, 1415 N. Wahsatch Ave.; Brian Geddes, 920 E. Dale St.; Jim Hekkers, 1451 Bellair Dr. and Bruce Payne, 815 N. Institute St.

The radio was taken from the front seat of the unlocked Richardson's vehicle, according to the report.

Fremont County Superintendent Will Resign

Stanley Henderson of Canon City has announced his resignation as Fremont County Superintendent of Schools to the Fremont County Board of County Commissioners, to become effective at the close of work on Dec. 31.

In the letter to the board Henderson said he submitted his resignation to take the appointment of probation officer for the District Court of Fremont and Custer Counties.

Commissioner Charles McDaniel said the board was notified of the intention of J. S. Moseley to resign as probation officer. He served in that capacity for more than 20 years.

Henderson was part-time probation officer for the past year.

The commissioners have budgeted a salary of $6,000 from Fremont County for the probation officer next year.

Henderson was first elected county superintendent of schools in November 1958 and took office in January 1959. He was re-elected four years later to a four-year term. It will be the commissioner's prerogative to appoint a successor to fill the two years remaining in Henderson's term.

Thieves Take Clothes And Then Steal Auto

A used car lot building was burglarized of clothing and car keys Thursday, and the burglars then made their get-away in one of the cars in the lot, police reported.

The car taken was a 1966 Pontiac valued at $300, according to police.

Communist Plot Probed in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Federal soldiers searched today through the interior city of Goiania for more than 100 persons accused of involvement in a Communist-backed plot against the Brazilian government.

Army Col. Carlos Meira Matos Thursday led the troops into Goiania, capital of Goias State, and deposed Gov. Marujo Borges. The war ministry said he was the center of a "subversive focal point." Matos was named temporary administrator.

The Brazilian Congress has 90 days in which to ratify the action or Borges will be restored to office.

Borges was carried from the palace on the shoulders of supporters and disappeared after urging the people to "stay calm and await the decision of Congress." The governor had obtained a writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme Court prohibiting his arrest.

DEAR ABBY: My husband never misses your column, so you would be doing me a great favor if you printed what you think of a husband who asks other women to select his wife's Christmas gift for him. After 15 years of selecting my gifts personally, he turned to other women to make his selection for him. DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and a little on the chubby side. Everything I touch, I either drop, break, or spill. I bump into doors and people and other things. My mother thinks it is because my bangs are always in my eyes and I can't see. My father says my coordination is off. What is the matter with me? —CLUMSY

DEAR CLUMSY: Many girls (and boys, too) your age have the same problem and for the same combination of reasons. Practice poise. Try to move more gracefully and be aware of what you are doing every moment. It will soon become part of your natural behavior. Try it. It really works.

Tide, Texas Use Identical Plays to Win Final Games

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Alabama and Texas didn't wait for their Orange Bowl meeting to spring a surprise.

They unveiled a crucial play—the same one—in closing out their regular football season schedules with victories Thursday, Alabama trimming Auburn 21-14 and Texas whipping Texas A&M 26-7.

Following Alabama's 10th victory without a defeat, the Crimson Tide formally accepted an Orange Bowl bid everyone knew they already had received. Texas, 9-1, had accepted an invitation nearly two weeks ago.

In using the surprise play, second-ranked Alabama had help from Auburn's Mike Alford while Texas, No. 5 in the nation, received aid from Tom Murrah of Texas A&M. Both centers, Alford and Murrah, started the whole thing.

On fourth down and punt situations, Alford and Murrah snapped the ball back over the punters' heads. In Alabama's case, it resulted in the first touchdown of the game. For Texas, the errant play brought a tie-breaking safety that opened the way for a 19-point second half.

Auburn's Jim Kilgore was set to punt in the first quarter when the ball sailed over his head. He chased it back into the end zone and fell on it, but the ball squirted away and Steve Bowman dropped it on for a touchdown.

In the third quarter of the traditional Texas battle A&M's Phil Scoggin was back to punt when the snapback got by him. He recovered the ball but couldn't get out of the end zone.

There was only a handful of other Thanksgiving Day games. Tulsa defeated Wichita 21-7, Virginia Tech swamped Virginia Military 35-13, William and Mary walloped Richmond 33-13 and an East All-Star team defeated the West 19-12 in the Gem Bowl at Erie, Pa.

The college season all but fades completely Saturday with two of the season's biggest games on the schedule. Army and Navy meet in their traditional rivalry while Notre Dame tries to wrap up the national championship by making Southern California its 10th consecutive victim.

Also on tap are Miami-Florida, Georgia Tech-Georgia, Tennessee-Vanderbilt, Duke-Tulane, Oklahoma-Arkansas State, Rice-Baylor, Texas Christian-Southern Methodist and Arizona State-Arizona.

Coch Paul Bryant of Alabama challenges Notre Dame's right to the No. 1 spot.

"We think we are No. 1 because we came from behind in our six straight bowl game, will meet fifth-ranked and once-beaten Texas in the Orange Bowl at Miami New Year's night. Texas' only loss was a 14-13 decision to Arkansas, which also finished unbeaten.

Bryant said he knew nothing about Texas and that he and Coach Darrell Royal of Texas have not scouted each other's teams. "We just talked and decided to exchange films," he said.

The Alabama football team will have a week or 10 days off before beginning preparations for the bowl game, Bryant said. He has asked the team to play basketball, handball or do a lot of running during that time to keep from stiffening up.

The Tide turned in another heart-stopping performance in its triumph over Auburn on national television. The men from Bama had their backs to the wall most of the way, but always came up with the big play.

This was Alabama's seventh unbeaten team. Other unbeaten Tide elevens were the teams of 1897, 1925, 1930, 1934, 1945 and 1961.

Kadets Seek End Label 'Bridesmaid' in Basketball

By CHARLIE DREUX

Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Air Academy High's head basketball coach, John Delventhal, in his sixth term heading the Kadet roundball program, will be seeking to shake the "bridesmaid" label and field a league championship team.

However, the Kadet coach will once again be saddled with fielding a winning team with the tall men which are the prime prerequisite in basketball.

Delventhal will depend upon experience and sharp-shooters to bring home the Will Rogers League championship as the Kadets battle four other teams in the newly formed Triple-A circuit.

Along with the three other area teams — Cheyenne Mountain, Harrison and Widefield — Academy High will join Canon City to form the five-team WRL circuit.

Delventhal expects the WRL race will be equal with perhaps Harrison the top challenger.

Cheyenne last year wrapped up the Pikes Peak League, which paired the other teams in the WRL except Canon City, and the Indians were the State Double-A semi-finalist.

Five lettermen anchor the Kadets team this season, including the team's best shooter 5-9 Bert Spear, two-year letterman Tom Krauska, Roger Karolick, Vance Wilson and Randy Green.

Eight other Big Blue cagers will be bidding for a varsity spot including Dennis Humfleet, Jerry Nelson, Dan Conboy, Mark Krauska, Mike Gibbs, Buddy Martin (son of the Air Force Academy football coach Ben Martin), and Tony Blanchard (son of Academy's Felix "Doc" Blanchard and former West Point grid star).

The Kadets will work their offense around the double post this season and with the exception of the gymnasium. There will be seven mark.

tion of Conboy (6-1) and Humfleet (6-1), the Big Blue cagers will field a team under six foot.

Delventhal hopes to make up the lack of height with aggressive defense and team rebounding.

Spear will undoubtedly be the leading scorer for the Kadets and in the WRL, as the 5-9 junior has flair for hitting the nets consistently. Spear is also a fine rebounder and last year was the team's third best in that department.

Spear averaged 14 points per game last year to rate as the Kadets' second best scorer.

AFL Denies Report Of Secret Draft Move

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Football League has branded as erroneous a newspaper report that the 5-year-old league held a "sneak draft" two weeks ago to get a jump on the senior National League in the brewing battle for the top college football players in the country.

The story, which appeared in Friday's New York Daily News — one day before the rival leagues conduct their separate drafts at different sites in New York — was immediately denied by league and club officials.

Milt Woodard, the AFL's assistant commissioner, flatly stated the story was "erroneous" while pointing out that "our constitution and by-laws don't allow this. We have set a date for the draft and if we sign anybody before that we would have to void this type of agreement. The story is not true."

The Daily News story, written by Norm Miller, said "there are strong indications that the American Football League clubs already have held another sneak draft in an effort to beat the NFL to the best available college players."

Accompanying the story was a club-by-club list of names that included such top-flight talent as Illinois linebacker Dick Butkus, halfback Gayle Sayers of Kansas, receiver Larry Elkins of Baylor and California quarterback Craig Morton.

Miller's story said the premature draft was "believed to have been conducted by phone nearly two weeks ago. At least one leading collegian already has been signed by an AFL team."

The AFL held a premature draft three years ago, in viola-

Two Key NFL Games Set Sunday

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

That new dish the National Football League dumped on the Detroit Lions Thanksgiving table was no turkey.

The Lions, who had spent their last 13 Thanksgiving afternoons entertaining the Green Bay Packers, ordered Bear Thursday and went hungry. Chicago's dethroned NFL champions won the annual holiday game 27-24 on Roger Leclerc's 17-yard field goal with less than two minutes to play.

The loss knocked Detroit out of second place in the Western Conference. Baltimore, which already has clinched the Western title, seeks its 11th straight victory Sunday at San Francisco and Cleveland, leading the Eastern Conference by 1½ games, plays host to Philadelphia.

Green Bay is at Dallas, St. Louis at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at Minnesota and New York at Washington in Sunday's other games.

The Buffalo Bills crept closer to the American Football League's Eastern crown Thursday by nipping San Diego 27-24 on a last-minute field goal by Gogolak. Sunday's AFL

Lions Miss Bear Meat By a Field Goal Margin

By BERNIE KENNEDY

Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Now there's little left for the Detroit Lions except a hope that they can get healthy again and, with some help, finish in second place of the National Football League's Western Conference.

The Lions checked Chicago in the second half but a three-touchdown second quarter and Roger Leclerc's 17-yard field goal with less than two minutes to go gave the Bears a 27-24 triumph Thursday.

This was a game of breaks," said Coach George Wilson. "There big break came when it hurt us most, late in the game and set up the winning touchdown."

Bennie McRae intercepted a three-way tie for third — Green Bay taking over second — with just two games to play. The other teams have three games remaining.

The Lions play Baltimore a week from Sunday and close out the season in Detroit against San Francisco Dec. 12.

Detroit scored first when Wayne Walker booted a 25-yard field goal.

Leclerc kicked a 27-yard field goal in the third quarter and Tommy Watkins scored from a yard out later in the same quarter for the only touchdown of the second half.

Chicago Coach George Halas credits the Lions for their defensive efforts in the second half and said: "We played pretty good in flashes." Then he added with a grin, "These flashes have lasted three games now, our winning streak."

Chicago quarterback Rudy Jukich completed 20 of 29 passes for 220 yards. Three of his passes accounted for the three Lions touchdowns in the second quarter.

Five passed two scoring passes in the second quarter, hitting Terry Barr on a 12-yard play and Watkins with an 8-yarder on a 10-yarder with one second remaining in the half.

The Cardinals gained a game last week, beating the Eagles while the Browns bowed to Green Bay. St. Louis held off the Steelers 24-22 in the team's first meeting. The Cards need a repeat victory to ensure themselves of no worse than a non-playoff flight.

WALTER FRAZER DENIED

RAY JOHN, Calif. (UPI) — Walter Frazee has suffered an intestinal ailment and his celebrated performance tour with Arctic Productions has been put off until Dec. 12 in Boston.

Johnny Morris, Bears' flanker back, set a National Football League record for a season when he caught seven passes to bring his total to 59. Tom Fears held the old record of 45.

"There are three reasons why I've had a good year," Morris said. "We have two good quarterbacks, a great offensive line and, with Mike Ditka at tight end, the other teams can't double — team either one of us."

The Lions, who announced before the game that linebacker Joe Schmidt, defensive halfback Dick Night Train Lane and end Gail Cogdill had been placed on the injured reserve list, have a tough uphill fight if they are to finish in second place.

The loss dropped them into a three-way tie for third — Green Bay taking over second — with just two games to play. The other teams have three games remaining.

Bills' Squeaker Win Nets Them Increased AFL Lead

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Boston Patriots, trailing Buffalo's Bills by 1½ games in the American Football League's Eastern Division race, go into Sunday's game at Houston with the growing suspicion that these Bills are for real.

Buffalo, seemingly beaten with less than seven minutes to play in Thursday's game at San Diego, rallied for 13 points producing an important 27-24 victory. The Bills were down 24-14 when they started their comeback — moments after losing the ball on downs on the San Diego one.

Linebacker Mike Stratton, who played a vital role in the Bills' rally, burst into the San Diego end zone and spilled quarterback John Hadl on the first play after the Chargers had halted Buffalo's march. The score made it 24-16.

Charley Warner than returned Hadl's free kick 40 yards to the San Diego 18 and five plays later Buffalo quarterback Daryle Lamonica went in for the touchdown bringing the Bills within two points.

Buffalo's attempted two-point conversion failed but the Bills got a second chance when the Chargers were penalized for holding. This time, Lamonica went in for the two-pointer, tying the score.

Stratton then picked off a Hadl pass — the Bills' fifth interception of the day — on the Buffalo 44. Four carries by Cookie Gilchrist helped move the ball into field goal range and rookie kicker Pete Gogolak, who later said he was "shaking like a leaf on the sidelines," trotted in with eight seconds to play and booted the 33-yard field goal that won it for the Bills.

Until Stratton's safety turned the tide, Lance Alworth's pass catching had kept the Chargers is giving the Oakland Raiders plenty of warning before their American Football League game here Sunday.

"They just better have their quarterbacks physically in condition because we'll be zooming in on them," Speedie said today.

Since hitting a season low in a 40-7 loss at Oakland Oct. 25, the Broncos have turned tiger. Their linebackers have started blitzing with a fury unknown in Denver's AFL history. In the past four games the Broncos have spalled more quarterbacks for longer losses than in seven games this season prior to the last four.

"There is no secret among us what we intend to do," Speedie said.

Oakland Coach Al Davis is concerned too.

"I'm not kidding," Davis said.

"We have three games left, including Buffalo next week and San Diego in the last week. I really think Denver will give us as tough a battle as the two leaders."

Denver's loss at Oakland came only hours after Gene Mingo, its ace placekicker, and Willie West, a defensive back, were waived off the team for violating curfew. The Broncos defensive unit was weakened further by injuries to key players like Goose Gonsoulin and Jerry Hopkins.

"I can't wait to get another shot at the Raiders," said Lional Taylor, Denver's top receiver. "Our team has pride, confidence and momentum now. We know we can beat them."

Mickey Slaughter will start at quarterback, Speedie said, in an effort to give the Broncs an offensive spark. He takes over from Jacky Lee, who has been to No. 1 the past half-dozen games.

Michigan, collecting 19 first-place votes and 329 points, and UCLA, gathering 15 firsts and 325 points, stand far above the rest of the field in the eyes of the 35 coaches on the rating board.

The Wolverines are expected to parlay added experience and All-America candidates Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin into an even better record than last year's 23-5 mark. Last season's record, moreover, was good enough for the Big Ten title, second place in the UPI ratings and third in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament.

UCLA, which lost All-American Walt Hazzard, Jack Hirsch and Fred Slaughter, is still expected to give Michigan tight race for the championship with returning guard Gail Goodrich and forwards Keith Erikson and Kenny Washington, who helped the Bruins win 30 straight games and the NCAA tournament last season.

Communist Paper Ends Publication

PARIS (AP) — The newspaper Liberation, begun 23 years ago as an organ of the resistance to Nazi occupation suspended publication today.

The Communist-line paper said the decision was made for financial reasons. Publisher Emmanuel D'Astier, who has sometimes been at odds with party policy, said in a front page story: "For economic reasons, for reasons of policy also — without doubt — we have failed."

But an editorial put the blame on the government. "The government refuses the press the right to a spring price which covers costs," it said.

Intra-Oklahoma Rivalry Closes Big 8 Season

By United Press International

Oklahoma State hosts Oklahoma in the Big Eight Conference football finale Saturday while Kansas State will close out its season against non-league foe New Mexico.

The rest of the league teams completed their regular season schedules last Saturday. Only league champion Nebraska has a playing date left on the calendar — a Cotton Bowl clash with Arkansas at Dallas on New Year's Day.

The Cowboys and Sooners will tangle for the 50th time in the cross-state series and Oklahoma has a solid lead, 44-8-6.

Oklahoma will take an 18-game series winning streak into the contest at Stillwater. The last state victory was in 1945, when the 'Pokes won 47-0.

With only four starters, Sadair will be favored to add the Pimlico Futurity to his juvenile record Saturday and become the top money-winning 2-year-old in racing history.

The Soopers won in 1946, '53, 12, and since then have averaged 35 points a game as Bud Wilkinson posted a 17-0 record against the Cowboys during his fabulous career as Sooner field boss. Oklahoma pounded the Cowboys last year, 34-14 as fullback Jim Grisham scored four touchdowns.

Grisham, of course, is back and will duel with cowboy fullback Walt Garrison for the league rushing title. Garrison leads Grisham by 27, 668-641.

Oklahoma got off to a slow start under new head coach Gomer Jones this season, losing three of its first four games. But the Soopers have not been defeated since, beating four opponents while tying Missouri.

The Soopers reached their peak last week by upsetting Nebraska, 17-7.

The Cowboys situation is just the opposite. The 'Pokes started fast with three victories in their first four games, losing only to Arkansas. They have lost four times since then.

A victory for Oklahoma would give the Soopers undisputed possession of second place while loss would drop the Big Red into a final 2-way deadlock for third with Missouri.

Oklahoma State must win to finish fifth while a loss would leave the 'Pokes in a tie for fifth with Kansas State. The game is also a must for the Cowboys if they are to finish with a .500 season.

Kansas State will shoot for an unprecedented third straight victory under head coach Doug Weaver when they meet the 'Bos at Albuquerque.

The Wildcats concluded their home and conference seasons by dumping Oklahoma State, 17-14 last weekend. Not since 1961 had Kansas State put together two straight victories in one season. The 'Cats opened that year with a 14-8 upset of De Paul.

Other teams receiving points — Oklahoma State, Oklahoma City, Bradley, Texas Tech, Miami (Fla.), Oregon State, Utah State, Loyola (Ill.), Providence, Texas Western, Creighton, St. Joseph's (Pa.), Indiana, Detroit, Georgia Tech, Connecticut, Southern California, Cincinnati, Colorado State, Wyoming, Princeton, Tennessee, Illinois, St. Bonaventure, Texas, Arizona.

76ers Ignore Wilt, Get Victory Over Warriors

The Philadelphia 76ers may have come up with a new defense against Wilt Chamberlain — they pretend he isn't there.

Wilt poured in 63 points — high for the National Basketball Association season — against Philadelphia Thursday night but the 76ers capitalized on the frigid shooting of his San Francisco teammates and whipped the Warriors 128-117. It was the 76ers' third straight victory and the Warriors' sixth consecutive setback.

In Thursday's only other game, the Bob Pettit-less St. Louis Hawks overcame a 24-minute cold spell and bulldozed the Boston Celtics 110-98 with a 40-point final period.

Chamberlain hit on 27 of 58 field goal attempts and nine of 20 free throws, pulled down 32 rebounds and contributed three assists in a brilliant, full-route effort. The other Warriors, however, ever, drove Coach Alex Hannum to distraction connecting for a dismal 273 floor percentage.

Philadelphia's Hal Greer, 26 points, Lucious Jackson, 24, and Larry Costello, 23, had no such problems as the 76ers outscored the Warriors 24-6 during a first-period stretch and were never headed.

Hannum spent most of the game in the Warriors' dressing room after referee Richie Powers banished the perplexed pilot for "unsportsmanlike language."

St. Louis missed Pettit, out for the third straight game with

Last Seminar
Set by AFA
In Engineering

The eighth and final program of the fall series of technical seminars sponsored by the Air Force Academy Department of Electrical Engineering is scheduled for Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. in Room 6H26, Fairchild Hall.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

Maj. E. E. Huston, assistant professor of Electrical Engineering, will discuss "Programmed Instruction in Basic Circuit Analysis at the Air Force Academy."

The seminar will briefly investigate the past and present and attempt a glimpse at the future of programmed instruction. An introduction and comparison of two of the techniques of programmed instruction currently in use will be made.

A plan for the application of programmed instruction to teaching fundamental electrical engineering principles at the Academy will also be presented.

Maj. Huston brought seven years of Air Force Systems Command experience with him when he reported to the Academy. Since his appointment as assistant professor four years ago, he has maintained a continuous interest in teaching techniques.

Four Klansmen
Acquitted
In Bombing

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—An all-white federal court jury Wednesday night acquitted four Ku Klux Klansmen of charges they conspired to violate the civil rights of a 6-year-old Negro boy whose home was bombed after he integrated a white school.

It was the second trial for the men.

A jury last July was unable to reach a verdict for the four men.

The Klansmen charged were Barton H. Griffin, 35; Willie Eugene Wilson, 39; Donald Eugene Spegal, 31; and Robert Pittman Gentz, 28.

The jury brought in its verdict seven hours and 15 minutes after receiving the case. Much of the deliberation was spent on a lengthy repeat of trial testimony at the request of the jurors.

The Klansmen were charged with conspiring to violate the rights of the boy. All but Gentz also were charged with conspiring to obstruct the court order under which the Lackawanna Elementary School here was integrated—and were acquitted of this charge also.

J. R. Stoner, Atlanta segregationist and defense attorney for the four Klansmen, called the verdict "a victory for the white race."

Stoner in his defense of the men had charged that the FBI threatened some of the defendants in seeking to gain information from them about the bombing.

The conspiracy charge carried a maximum prison sentence of 10 years. The second charge carried a maximum prison sentence of a one-year jail term.

Children Get Better Training For Reading

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The way we teach children to read in this country still is pretty bad, but it's getting better," a reading expert said today.

Dr. Ruth Strickland, research professor of education at Indiana University, took a long, hard look at reading instruction during a recent tour of the United States and Europe.

"Some of the new ideas we see are pretty far out," she said in an interview during the annual convention of the National Council of Teachers of English. "On the other hand, we're getting some solid new information, too."

Among the things she has seen which encourage her are a linguistic approach to reading being tried in Philadelphia, and a language approach that started in San Diego and has spread to nearby areas.

In the linguistic approach, Professor Strickland said, children are first taught to recognize the letters of the alphabet. Then they are taught the most common pattern of English spelling, the consonant-vowel-consonant. Examples would be pin, cut and hat.

The children are taught to sound out the words, not the individual letters. Next they learn consonant substitution — changing pin to tin, cut to rut, and hat to bat.

Further lessons show how the final letter 'e' changes the sound of the initial vowel — as in cut and cute, hat and hate, pin and pine.

In the language approach, emphasis is on teaching the children to read and write stories that they make up themselves in their own words — not the artificial words found in so many beginning readers.

Those readers are a sore point with Professor Strickland.

"They may be getting just a little bit better, but some brand new thinking should be done on them," she said.

"Children don't say, 'Oh, oh, oh. Look, look, look!' Children don't live such namby-pamby lives. Little boys don't play house."

Professor Strickland said she would like to see a combination of the linguistics approach, the language approach, and perhaps stories from the Dr. Suess books.

"I think we could take the best of each of these and build a fine new system of teaching reading," she said.

"One thing is certain, we can and should speed up the teaching of reading."

Argentina Warns Against Atomic Ban

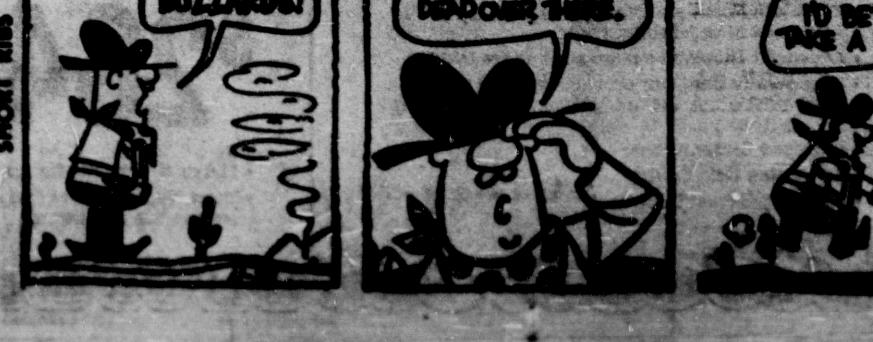

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Argentina urged other Latin-American nations Thursday not to rush into a ban on nuclear weapons until several questions are cleared up — including the extent of Cuba's possession of such arms.

"Cuba is a geographic, physical and political reality that we should not overlook," said the Argentinian delegate, Silvano Santander, at a meeting of Latin American nations.

"Were Soviet (missiles) really retired from Cuba in 1962?" Santander asked, adding that Prime Minister Fidel Castro said only a few days ago that "the nuclear arms now will be handled by Cuban hands."

He said there also were questions of whether the world's nuclear powers would respect a non-nuclear zone and what effect creation of such a zone would have on the obligations of Latin American countries in regard to hemisphere defense.

Brazil took a similar stand earlier in the meeting, called to discuss a proposal by Mexico to outlaw nuclear arms from Latin America. All Latin American nations are attending the meeting except Cuba, Venezuela and Guatemala.

Ward Case Is Reopened After Murder

By COLIN FROST

Fred Law pioneered film stunting in 1912 by leaping in a parachute from the Statue of Liberty for Pathé News.

632-7694

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard reopened its files on the Stephen Ward case today in search for clues in the strangling of a prostitute, the sixth in West London within a year.

The latest victim was tattooed, Margaret McGowan, 23. Her naked body was found half buried on a parking lot in the swank Kensington High Street area Wednesday.

As Frances Brown she gave evidence for the defense in the trial last year that convicted osteopath Stephen Ward of running a vice ring.

Ward was tried in the wake of the scandal which forced his friend John Profumo to resign as war minister after admitting he lied to cover up his affair with call girl Christine Keeler.

Ward took poison before he was sentenced. Miss McGowan — Brown, Susan Edwards, Frances Quinn and Anne Sutherland — took flowers to him as he lay dying in hospital.

She testified at Ward's trial that she visited his apartment twice with another prostitute for bedouin fourtimes.

Her body was identified by a pink, black and blue tattoo on her left forearm, a design of flowers, the words "mum and dad" and the name "Helen".

Detectives were convinced that her murder was linked with that of five other prostitutes

Secret Service agents uncovered 44 counterfeit plants and seized a record $7.2 million in counterfeit currency during year ending June 30, 1964.

Detectives say they are left with two theories — either a maniac is among the drivers who prowl West London picking up girls, or a vice gang has chosen murder as its means of discipline.

Scotland Yard was making an urgent hunt for Miss McGowan's closest girl friend, June O'Neil, 22. Acquaintances said she vanished from her usual haunts six weeks ago and they feared for her safety.

Sheriff Sam James said the bodies were found tangled in driftwood about a quarter-mile below the Grand Ecole Bridge.

The other surviving boys, ranging in age from 12 to 16, were Robert Cartney, Danny Sieber, Steven Seitz, Roy Lafon and Lee Wright. The counselors were Gerald Bible of Cisco, Tex., and Ken Edgar of Tyler, Tex.

Accused 'Spy' Still Is Getting Soviet Papers

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) —

Prof. Frederick Barghoorn of Yale grinned shyly, then laughed when he said he's still on the Soviet Union's mailing list.

Pravda, Izvestia and other Soviet newspapers haven't stopped coming to Barghoorn in the year since he was imprisoned on a charge of spying and then expelled from the Soviet Union.

Barghoorn has spent most of the past year assembling his latest book, living the life of a scholar as far removed as he can get from the public spotlight.

But he is less reticent now about telling of his arrest in front of Moscow's Metropole Hotel, the incident that hurled Barghoorn into international prominence a year ago.

"I had come from a visit to the American Embassy," he recalled. "I was in the ambassador's auto. The ambassador was out of town and his chauffeur drove me to the hotel."

"I was about two-thirds of the way to the hotel door. I was walking toward the lobby to meet a friend of mine (an acquaintance from a Western embassy).

"A young man came up to me and asked, 'are you an American citizen?' and thrust a piece of paper at me. That was all. He didn't ask my name. Three other men grabbed me."

"I made quite a commotion and tried to break away. Nobody outside the hotel paid the slightest attention."

Barghoorn, who had entered the country as a tourist, was hustled away in a car.

That was at about 7:30 p.m. Oct. 31, 1963, the night before Barghoorn was scheduled to leave the Soviet Union for Warsaw. It was almost two weeks later, on Nov. 12, that Tass, the Soviet news agency, announced that Barghoorn had been arrested "the other day" on a charge of spying.

The news shocked the Yale University community and Barghoorn's colleagues. Protests were raised about the arrest of the scholar who had made several previous trips to the Soviet Union and who had served at the American Embassy in Moscow from 1942 to 1944.

President John F. Kennedy expressed his personal concern.

On Nov. 16, the Soviet government announced it was washing its hands of the matter, cited Kennedy's concern and expelled Barghoorn.

Salvation Army Is Hoping for Paper Money

NEW YORK (AP) — The besties on the corners this Christmas season may see the bright side of the coin shortage.

The Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America are optimistic that the public will drop paper money instead of change in the kettles.

Elsewhere the coin shortage is a cloud without a silver lining.

"We anticipate we will have more dollar-and-up contributions in the kettles this year," said Ralph E. Chamberlain, director of fund raising in the New York area for the Salvation Army, which traditionally uses corner kettles to solicit funds for its work.

The Volunteers of America provide street-corner contribution points manned by men in Santa Claus garb.

"We have been concerned about the coin shortage," said Gen. J. F. McMahon of the Volunte ers.

But, he added, his organization is hopeful any lack of coins may be more than offset by currency contributions.

In the past, said McMahon, banks would groan when they spotted the Volunteers arriving with bags of coin.

"This year they've been approaching us to get the coins," said McMahon.

For merchants the coin shortage could mean loss of sales.

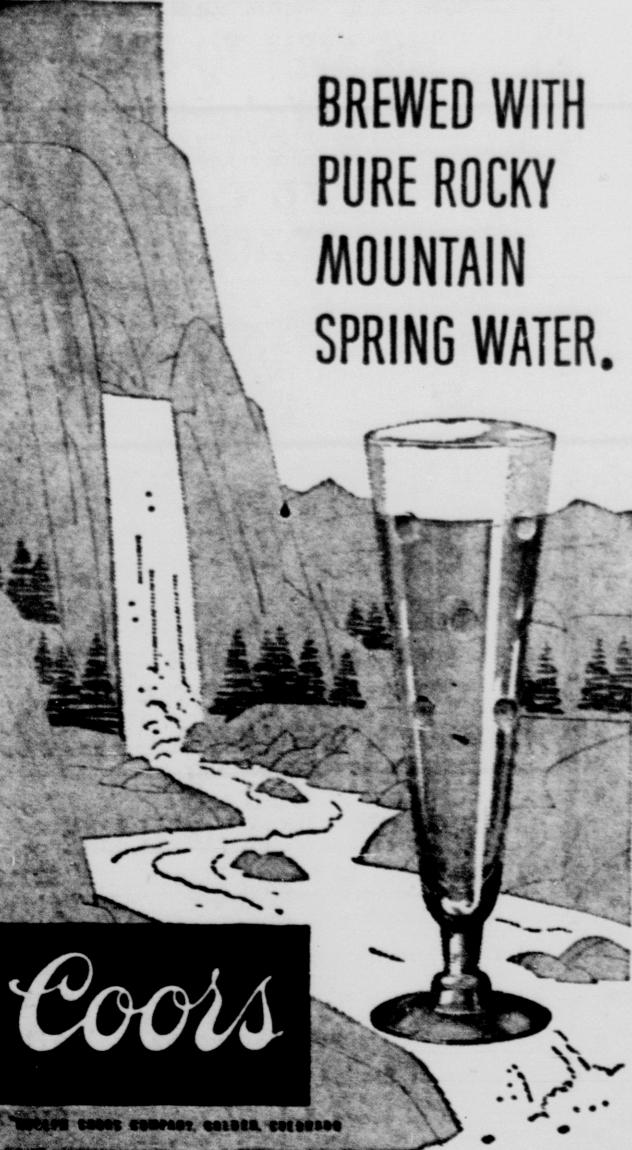

To head off that possibility retailers and banks have been trying all kinds of methods to attract coins from the public.

Scores of banks are offering paper dollars for less than 100 cents in change.

The Christmas kettle groups are eyeing the bank offers with anticipation since they are sure to collect a great deal of change during the season, despite the shortage.

"I've been thinking of sending Volunteers into banks with a dollar in change at a time," said McMahon in jest.

Survivors of Tragic Outing Have Dinner

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP) —

The survivors of a tragic outing on the Red River had Thanksgiving dinner at a hospital here and then boarded a bus to ride back to Dallas, Tex.

The bodies of two boys who drowned when a raft capsized after smashing into a bridge piling here Wednesday night were recovered Thursday.

The two, Danny Tedford, 15, and Joe Warren, 11, were among nine boys from a camp for underprivileged youths near Dallas who were floating down the Red River with two adult counselors.

Barghoorn has spent most of the past year assembling his latest book, living the life of a scholar as far removed as he can get from the public spotlight.

But he is less reticent now about telling of his arrest in front of Moscow's Metropole Hotel, the incident that hurled Barghoorn into international prominence a year ago.

On Nov. 16, the Soviet government announced it was washing its hands of the matter, cited Kennedy's concern and expelled Barghoorn.

Bachelor Barghoorn, 53, still lives in an efficiency apartment next door to that of his 81-year-old mother, Elizabeth Barghoorn.

Would he like to go back to the Soviet Union?

"Not for a few years," is all Barghoorn will say.

Barghoorn currently has the title of "Ford rotating research professor of public affairs" at Yale — a status that keeps him free of classes and enables him to work on his book, tentatively titled "Politics in Russia."

"I'm afraid it will have to undergo some revisions," he says with typical understatement. "It's an occupational hazard in this field."

"I was hoping Khrushchev would stay in power until I finished the book. I didn't anticipate the way he would leave."

Neutralist Leader To Start Meditating

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) —

Gen. Kong Le, leader of the neutralist Laotian army, will spend next week in Buddhist retreat.

The 33-year-old general, a devout Buddhist, shaved his head and changed his uniform for robes three days ago after spending a night meditating in a cave, it was reported today in Vientiane.

He added, his organization is hopeful any lack of coins may be more than offset by currency contributions.

In the past, said McMahon, banks would groan when they spotted the Volunteers arriving with bags of coin.
